

London 2012 Uniform and Accreditation Collection – London

What to bring

You will need to show one of the following pieces of valid photo ID when you pick up your uniform and accreditation card from the London Uniform Distribution and Accreditation Centre (UDAC):

- UK nationals: passport, UK photocard driving licence or long form birth certificate accompanied by bank statement or utility bill showing current address
- EEA and Swiss nationals: passports or European identity card
- Non-EEA nationals: passport

You won't be able to collect your uniform and accreditation without the correct ID as specified above, so please don't forget.

What to expect

1. You'll be asked to show your valid photo ID when you check-in.
2. You'll have your photo taken if required, and your accreditation card will be printed.
3. You'll be fitted for and collect your uniform (this will be issued with a reusable bag).

The whole process will take around an hour.

Access to the UDAC is by invitation only, so please come within an hour of your agreed start time.

Entry to the UDAC will only be permitted to members of the London 2012 Games-time workforce and any associated support workers, so please don't bring family or friends with you.

Address

London UDAC
101 Stephenson Street
Canning Town
London
E16 4SA

How to get there

The UDAC is in West Ham, east London. It's a two-minute walk from Star Lane on the Docklands Light Railway (DLR), and a 10-minute walk from West Ham tube station.

Parking will not be available at the UDAC, so we recommend you travel by public transport.

Please see the map below for more information on how to get there.

The Cadbury logo, featuring the word 'Cadbury' in a stylized, cursive font.

Official Treat Provider for the London 2012 Games Maker programme

My Games Maker uniform & accreditation collection

